European Charter for Researchers and the Code of Conduct for the Recruitment of Researchers

The Leibniz Institute for Natural Product Research and Infection Biology – Hans Knöll Institute (HKI) – welcomes the initiative of the European Commission as well as the recommendations given in European Charter for Researchers and the Code of Conduct for the Recruitment of Researchers. The HKI as a leading academic research centre in the field of natural product research and infection biology of human-pathogenic fungi supports their implementation. Maintaining an excellent and inspiring research and research training environment forms a fundamental part of the institute's vision.

Thus, the HKI is pleased to endorse the European Charter for Researchers and the Code of Conduct for the Recruitment of Researchers. Many of the principles and requirements set out therein have already been implemented at the HKI. The implementation of the Charter and the Code of Conduct will provide additional valuable guidelines to maintain the high quality research and contribute to the creation of an open and attractive labour market for researchers in Europe.
